Victor P. Dezelic, Vice President, Senior Benefits Consultant at Corporate Synergies

Victor P. Dezelic is the Vice President, Senior Benefits Consultant at Corporate Synergies. Since he joined the business in 2007, he has executed the development of new business opportunities for its large group medical, pharmacy and ancillary employee benefits products. He advises, directs and implements short and long-term business strategies to help employers contain and control rising benefit and healthcare costs.

With broad experience in employee benefits and health care industries, his business credentials include the responsibility of cultivating and maintaining relationships with corporate executives and senior level management of large group organizations. He possesses a wealth of experience that has earned him an industry wide reputation as a fierce negotiator and strategist who supports the needs of the client in an ever-changing insurance and healthcare environment.

Victor has been a member of the UPC of Long Island (input role).

Victor resides in Huntington, Long island and is a graduate of Stony Brook University. He is the proud father of twin daughters and an avid golfer and fisherman. He is also involved with Long Island's adult and youth lacrosse and currently serves as an assistant coach in the Harborfield's girl's lacrosse program.
